

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE & THE INVESTIGATIVE IMAGINATION: THE ART OF REFLECTION

Richard Winter, Alyson Buck and Paula Sobieshowska
Routledge, 1990

CONTENTS

Chapter One General Introduction: Reflecting on Experience Through Writing and Sharing 'Fictions'

Prologue
Sharing Stories
Constructing a 'Patchwork Text'

Chapter Two The Imagination of Meaning: Writing and Interpreting Stories in a Professional Context

Introduction: 'Stories', The Story-writing Workshops

Examples

1. A Story as a Statement - Repetition and Reversal
2. A Story as a Projection of Sympathy / Empathy with the 'Other' of a Professional Encounter
3. Empathy, Stereotyping, Identification
4. Contrasts (1) Theory and Practice
5. Contrasts (2) Professional and Client
6. Contrasts (3) Theatre and Society
7. A Ghost Story
8. A Story as a Metaphor for Practice (1) An Exotic Myth
9. A Story as a Metaphor for Practice (2) A Mundane Allegory
10. What is 'A Story'? (1) 'Reflexivity' - A Story about Writing a Story
11. What is 'A Story'? (2) Voices For a 'Documentary'
12. What is 'A Story'? (3) A Patchwork of Quotations

Chapter Three The 'Patchwork Text': Shaping Meaning through the Exploration of Diversity

Introduction: The Patchwork Text; The 'Reflective Writing' Course

Examples

1. Opening Up the Ending of 'A Story'
2. Variations on a Theme
3. Exploring a Role (1)
4. 'Professional' Meanings in 'Personal' Experience
5. Exploring the Personal / Professional Boundary
6. Exploring a Role (2)

Chapter Four Distance Learning Materials

Chapter Five The Experience of the Course and its Impact - Analysis of Students' Comments

Chapter Six A Case Study

Chapter Seven Overall Rationale: Art-istry, 'Fiction' and Reflection -- The Strange Absence of the Creative Imagination in Professional Education

1. Introduction

- 2 The Reflective Paradigm (I) A Summary
3. The Reflective Paradigm (II) Theoretical and Political Context
4. Reflection and 'The Shaping Spirit of Imagination'
5. From 'Literature' to 'Storying Experience'
6. The Multi-voiced Text: Collage, Montage, Patchwork
7. Writing and Sharing Fiction: A Social and Educational Practice for the Storying Imagination
8. Conclusion: Writing and Sharing Fiction as an Artistic Practice for the Reflective Citizen π

Epilogue The Professional Worker and The Artist - Two Myths of Betrayal